We have given a great deal of good advice to our opponents, whether they profited by it or not. It's very cheap to give it, and we never asked either pay or thanks. We now give them advice gratis. They can accept it, and profit by it or not, as they see proper. We advise them in good faith, for their own comfort now and hereafter, to desist from their efforts in behalf of the revolutionists. The less they say now the better for them hereafter. Whatever good or ill fortune awaits this country, it is not going to be divided. No two Governments will be tolerated in the bounds of this Union. Those striving now for a division will regret it, if they live many years.

Burr undertook to entice off a part of our territory once, and remember his fate. For a while he had many sympathizers. The Hartford Convention was justly suspected of Disunion proclivities, and its partial friends have been ever since making apologetics, and striving to mitigate the odium it brought on New England. South Carolina has never got over her suicidal act of thirty years ago, and has at last resolved to break away from a Union in which she had not got over damaged reputation. This movement will end in the same way, only to the disgrace of its authors. This thing of breaking up a Government, and all the world will say without a cause, will do to talk about over a glass of bad whisky. It's a frolic to wear cockades, witness fights between black and white pigs, and shout "Hurrah, for Jeff. Davis!" but it is a most serious task to undertake it, and the greatest of crimes to accomplish it. The shades of your revolutionary ancestors will haunt your revels, like the ghost of Banquo, and point their ghostly fingers at you as the murderers of their country. Your ill conduct will have thrown away all that the labors and sufferings of the men '75 won. Don't you do it. We warn you now to stop. What you do and say now will be reflected as long as your memory lives. There will be no spot of earth hereafter where your deeds will not be counted a crime. This country can't be divided—mark that. The ephemeral passion of the hour may work out abundant evil; but interest, an ever acting power, will overcome all them. All Youth is very apt to be deceived by the glitter and tinsel, and the guilty glories of war. Better beware of them. There is all to lose and nothing to gain in this revolution. Better for humanity and the credit of mankind that both sections of the Union should sink to the bottom of the sea than that they should divide; it would entail on posterity centuries of calamity and disasters and disgrace. Better that our glorious history should end at this point, without the future dark and disfigured pages. Why should the Secessionists in Kentucky persist in their factious course? They professed a great real to stand by Kentucky, and Kentucky has declared her position with singular unanimity. Why, then, not stand up to their own professions, and at least suffice? They certainly don't now expect, after all that has passed, to change the position of this State. If they do, they make a greater mistake than usual, even for them, and that is saying a good deal.

The Charleston Mercury is disgusted at the conduct of England, in not allowing prizes to be sold in her ports. The editor says:

"We are only surprised that any of the Commissioners have remained a day in London after the blockade was issued. This is an attack of outrageous hostility, which, it appears to us, ought to have arrested all confidence with British authorities. It was well known that, whilst Great Britain has the greatest interest in the independence of the Confederate States, there is an element of anti-slavery fanaticism which, in all likelihood, paralyse her counsels in our favor."

The editor ought to be patient! England is wiser than South Carolina, and not as full of conceit. She knows a little better what war is; she has often tried it. She would rejoice to see this country divided; but she can't run risks. Whilst she is fighting here, Russia and Austria might conclude to settle old scores. England will wait; alas! perhaps, too long for South Carolina. France will wait; wait a good while; till she sees whether the Cotton States can maintain themselves. If they can't, then let them hang! He says, moreover:

"Have our Commissioners been empowered to offer to France and England a treaty guaranteeing for a number of years trade between the Confederate States. We fear not; for they have been empowered to make such treaties, we are sure that they might before this have returned with their mission completely successful, and the war on our frontier, on the part of the United States, reduced to a weak absurdity."

How would that suit the Confederate Constitution? Will the Congress be robbed of its discretion to levy duties by a few men who make a treaty? Is that the way the independence of the new Government is to be bartered away? Why may not a few smart Commissioners make all the laws, in conjunction with England, and call them treaties? How convenient a scheme this would be to set up a monarchy in the Confederate States, sustained by British power. The scheme will not work. England is too wary for that. She had better keep her four or five millions directly out of the treasury, than go to war for cotton to keep them employed.

You must help yourselves, Mr. Mercury & Co., and not look to England and France to take the fight off your hands for the sake of cotton. It might raise a very uncomfortable storm in Europe to be too willing. The will of England and France is good, no doubt; but they will not burn their fingers. They understand the cost of war too well. They can't be precipitated, like the Cotton States, they have more sense.

"The meanest lie," says the Missouri Democrat, and then goes on to notice the charge that guns were rudely taken from Colonel Kennedy's house by Unionists, when the fact was, they were stolen by Secessionists. That's not much of a lie. It's the commonest kind of lie. The Secesionists systematically charge on Union men all the mean things they do themselves. It's one of their belligerent rights, and is well understood.

The Yeoman is awfully stirred up about the "Lincoln guns." That paper talks about those guns being "unlawfully embroiled from the National arsenals." Now, is not that the height of Secession impudence? The only unlawful embezzlement of public arms from the National arsenals is that which has been practiced by Jeff. Davis & Co. But all that the Yeoman approves—because, we suppose, it tends to the destruction of the Union and the Constitution. We imagine that it is "sour grapes" with these Secessionists. They would all take "Lincoln guns" if they could get them. They are constantly trying to obtain these guns under false pretenses. Some of them recently came down to this city, and in order to obtain "Lincoln guns" pledged their honor that they were true Union men. And they got some "Lincoln guns." And they are engaged under the same false pretenses in smuggling arms from the other side of the river. If any one is surprised at all this, we are not. The whole Secession movement is one grand false pretense from the beginning to the end.

THE KNIGHTS OF THE GOLDEN CIRCLE—THIS TRAVERSABLE AIM.—"There now nearly eight thousand (K. G. C.'s) in the State, distributed through every county, and the organization is growing daily in favor and importance, and the work will be pushed with the utmost vigor UNTIL THE TRI-COLORED FLAG OF THE CONFEDERATE STATES FLOATS IN TRIUMPH FROM THE DOME OF THE CAPITOL AT FRANKFORT.—Bickley's Letter to the Louisville Courier.

Special Dispatches to the Cincinnati Pioneers.

BEAULIN, IN FLAMES, via Webster, Va.

Brisk skirmishing was kept up with the enemy all yesterday afternoon.

About 2 o'clock, from a high hill, in the neighborhood, two large bodies were seen marching out of the enemy's camp. Instant preparations were made to resist a formidable attack. By 4 o'clock the skirmishing in front of the 14th Ohio and 9th Indiana regiments became very warm.

The enemy advanced under cover of the woods so close as to rain bullets upon the men at the artillery.

A larger force of skirmishers was sent forward to engage the enemy, and our skirmishers instantly rushed forward, pouring in sharp volleys, and killing several of the rebels.

The enemy's cavalry then advanced around to the farther skirt of the woods to attack our skirmishers in the flank.

Our boys rapidly retreated, and the artillery dropped in a couple more shells, one of which exploded among their cavalry. They instantly fell back and our boys rushed forward and poured in another volley, and killing several of the rebels.

The enemy's cavalry then advanced around to the farther skirt of the woods to attack our skirmishers in the flank.

Daily Democrat

Special Notices.

The following complimentary notice is taken from the Missouri Democrat:

IMMENSE AMOUNT OF SUFFERING RELIEVED BY TAKING MCLEAN'S STRENGTHENING CORDIAL—Since the 17th of August, the following cases have been reported cured:

105 persons have been cured of General Debility.

68 persons have been cured of Nervous Debility.

28 persons have been cured of diseases of the Kidneys.

180 persons who have been afflicted with various complaints, Fever, Chronic Diseases, Dysentery, Liver Complaint, Night Sweats, Dyspepsy, and Weakness of the Digestive Organs, have been cured, besides a large number from whom we have not yet heard.

McLean's Strengthening Cordial and Blood Purifier is a remedy required by every one in the Western and Southern country. It is very pleasant and agreeable to take, and it can be taken by man, woman, or child.

As a diuretic, it will cure any disease of the Kidneys or Bladder, and as an alternative, it will purify the blood, and remove all pimpls, sores, or blotches from the skin.

If it—one draught is sufficient to convince the most sceptical of its wonderful strengthening and invigorating properties. See the advertisement in another column.

"More precious than rubies" is health, but if we believe the advertising columns of the papers no one need be without that great desideratum; the remedies are almost as numerous as the diseases themselves, each one of the former better than its compeers.

Wright's REJUVENATING EXTRACT is a star of great magnitude among the myriad; it scarcely can be classed as a medicine, for it is peculiar to the taste, exhilarating and bracing in its action, and both harmless and effective in its operation upon the nervous, debilitated, weak or woe-begone victim of bad health and worse treatment. Throw away doctors' stuff and try this mighty substitute.
